FOREWORD

Hello, Eretto here! This book is about "Churuya-san", a character who's a tiny version of upper-classman Tsuruya-san from "The Melancholy of Haruhi Suzumiya". However, she's a just a tad different from the original.

Once upon a time, Churuya-san was born from an absent-minded sketch. Later, when I needed something, anything to keep updating my homepage with while my day job was really busy, I started a weird little 4-panel manga using this character.

Completely unexpectedly, it became very popular. Before I even noticed, my homepage had turned into nothing but Churuya-san.

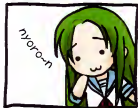

And now, finally, I've come so far as publishing a full-colour book of her. What a handful she turned out to be!

Compared to my usual illustrations, this is all kind of nyoro~n quality, but I did cram a lot of love and Churuya-san into this. If it can make you go nyoro~n (´・ω´) even a little bit, that would make me happy!

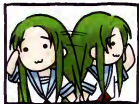

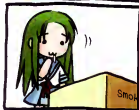

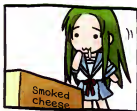

So, let's nyoro~n!

You will need smoked cheese past this point!

AFTERWORD

And thus, we say goodbye to the Churuya-san manga! How'd you like it, nyoro? Any which way, I'm just really glad to have finally managed to collect it all into one book!

I should probably answer this very frequently asked question now: "Why does she love smoked cheese so much?" The completely official answer to this is: I've actually simply become aware of how delicious smoked cheese is. Terribly sorry about the lame explanation.

I figure my homepage will be going back to its usual style of updates with illustrations soon, but I hope you will keep visiting Utsura Uraraka!

Please leave your smoked cheese
here!

● Finally, I shall say goodbye with a group shot of Tsuruya-san and Churuya-san. Well, I say "group shot" but I guess they're really the same character. Well, don't let that keep you up at night. That pure white one-piece really makes for a summery scene. These two will be forever immortal! Well, that's it for this time. See you in my next book!
